Q1. Summary of stopping by woods on a Sowdy Evening

Ans 1: Summary:

The poem "Stopping By Woods On a Snowy Evening" has been written by Robert Frost, the well known American poet. It tells the story of a man who is travelling to his home town. When he reaches the woods, he is enchanted by its natural beauty. He wonders whose woods are these? He knows the owner who is living in the nearby village. His horse is thinking it strange to stop by the woods while there is no farmhouse in sight. His horse gives a shake to the harness bell. There is a frozen lake and snowflakes to be seen. Wind is passing through the trees. the woods are lovely, dark and deep. but the poet has so many things to do and he has many miles to go before he can go to bed for sleeping.
