

General Science - 10th Class General Science English Medium Chapter 9 Short Questions Test

Q1. What is Phone.

Ans 1: Mobile Phone is also called as cellular telephone by virtue of cell system. The receiver of mobile phone again changes the radio signals into sound.

Q2. What is analogue and digital quantities.

Ans 1: Analogue quantities: Such quantities, which increase or decrease continuously are known as analogue quantities. For example Distance, time velocity and temperature are good examples of analogue quantities.

Ans 2: Digital Quantities: Digital quantities are not continuous.
Example: The time one a digital watch does not advance continuously but the display changes once in one second.

Q3. What is the difference between Graphic designs and Data Managing.

Ans 1: Graphic Desingsns: drawing pictures and designs on computer is called graphic designs.

Ans 2: Data Managing: SToring data in files, its rearrangement and obtaining require results is called Data Managing.

Q4. Define word processing.

Ans 1: The use of computer for writing matter, editing , storing and printing is known as word processing. IN word processing, major takss are to type matter by keyboard writing word in different styles and colour is possible in it. In such, correct spelling and grammatical mistakes.

Q5. What is compact disk

Ans 1: This is an aluminium or plastic disc with shinning surface. It is made for digital recording.

Q6. Define A.L.U

Ans 1: Arithmetic and logic unit does mathematical operations such as addition, subtraction , multiplication, divison etc and allow it performs logicla operations such as comparison betwene two things.

Q7. What do you meant by telecommunication.

Ans 1: The method used for instant communication of information to far off places is called telecommunication.

Q8. What are radio waves.

Ans 1: Sound waves require certain medium for the propagation to reach our ears.

Ans 2: Radio waves are electromagnetic waves. This frequency ranges between 10 Hz and 10 KhZ and their speed is that of light
Radio waves are also called carries waves, because these are used to carry radio and T.V.transmission from one place to another.

Q9. Define Scanner

Ans 1: Scanner is another important input device through which pictures and documents can be fed to the computer in their original form. This is facilitated much in the field of publishing.

Q10. Write the steps for mail sending.

Ans 1: 1- You type the E-mail address of that person.

Ans 2: 2- You type the message.

Ans 3: 3- Then press send button. The message goes to the mailbox of the required person.
