

Education (English Medium) - FA Part 1 Education English Medium Chapter 7 Short Questions Test

Q1. State three distinctive peculiarities of non-directive counseling.

Ans 1: The asked peculiarities are listed below:

1. Its is counselee-oriented.
2. It enable an individual to solve his problems.
3. The process of non-directive counseling is based on non-interference.

Q2. State two important aims of social guidance.

Ans 1: Here are the important aims of social guidance:

1. To create harmony between the intersets of individual and society.
2. To explore the causes of social malaadjustment and find its solution.

Q3. Write down two aims of professional guidance.

Ans 1: The asked aims are outlined here:

1. Provision of help in the selection of subjects.
2. Professional planning corresponding to the market needs.

Q4. State two significant foundations of directive counseling.

Ans 1: The asked foundations are following:

1. No individual can solve all of his problems by himself.
2. An individual besieged with problems lack balance of personality.

Q5. Define self-finding.

Ans 1: Self finding is an acquaintance with one'e abilities, tendencies and social role. This very acquaintance enables an individual to lead a balanced and successful life.

Q6. Define eclectic counseling.

Ans 1: Eclectic counseling refers to the freedom of the counselor to use whatever procedures or techniques seem to be most appropriate to any particular situation or to any particular counselee.

Q7. State two important aims of educational guidance.

Ans 1: Here are the important aims of educational guidance:

1. Solution of the educational problems of the students.

2. Helping the students in the selection of subjects according to their aptitudes.

Q8. Describe two important elements of professional guidance.

Ans 1: The important elements of professional guidance are following:

1. Selection of professions corresponding to abilities.
 2. Preparation of organized strategy for entering professions.
-

Q9. Define psychological guidance.

Ans 1: Psychological guidance is a process in which a psychologist discovers the problems concerning with individuals, mind and behavior and thus suggests an appropriate solution so that he/she can secure internal and external agreeableness.

Q10. Define professional guidance.

Ans 1: Professional guidance refers to the process of help in deciding a profession for an individual keeping in view his/her abilities and aptitude in order to maximize the possibilities of success in the opted profession.
