

Computer Science - ICS Part 1 Computer Science Chapter 10 Short Questions Preparation

Q1. How webpages are created?

Ans 1: A web page is a document that is written in HTML in addition to simple text certain tags of HTML are included in the document. the language allow embedding hyperlinks in the documents. A hypertext documents is also called web page.

Q2. Define IP Addressing.

Ans 1: To keep all of these machines straight each machine on the internet is assigned a unique address called IP addressing. IP stands for internet protocol and these addresses are 32-bit numbers, normally expressed as four "octets" in a "Dotted decimal number"

Q3. Define WWW.

Ans 1: The world wide web was launched in 1989 at the european particle laboratory in Geneva for adding footnote and cross reference in hypertext documents. the www user http. To link hypertext documents in the world wide web.

Q4. What are the advantages of Email?

Ans 1:

1. Email can take as little as few to go across a country, or even around the world.
2. It leaves a written record, you can keep copies of email messages you send and receive for your records.
3. Attachment is very powerful feature for email which enables you to enclosed additional files with your email.

Q5. Explain URL.

Ans 1: URL (Uniform Resource Locator): Every page has a unique address on worldwide web. This is called uniform resource locator. If you want to access a web page on the world wide web you will have to specify the url of the required page in the web browser.

Q6. Write two limitation of email.

Ans 1: Some emails system can send or receive text files only. Even though you can send and receive images programs, files products. By word processing programs or multimedia message. It is possible to forget emails: This is not common, but it is possible to forget the address of the sender, you may want to take steps to confirm the source of some email you receive.

Q7. What is web publishing?

Ans 1: Web publishing is the process of publishing original content on the internet. The process including creating and uploading websites, updating the associated webpages and posting content to these webpages online. Web publishing comprises of personal business and community websites in addition to e books and blogs.

Q8. Describe the term web browsing.

Ans 1: Searching information on the world wide web is referred to as web browsing. A software known as web browser is used to search and view web pages.

Q9. List name of five search engines.

Ans 1: Top and most popular search engine are google, bing, yahoo, ask.com .

Q10. What is website?

Ans 1: A website also written web site, or simple is a set of web pages containing media, text, video, music, images etc. A website is rotated on at least one web server.
